120 years of growing and selecting our melon seed.

Dear Friends,

As we celebrate 123 years of providing a better Seed to generations of home and market gardeners, we are humbled with gratitude for our customers. Many of you have become friends that look forward to hearing from each year. 2020 started a new decade of Burrell Seeds, and we are looking forward to working with all of you for years to come.

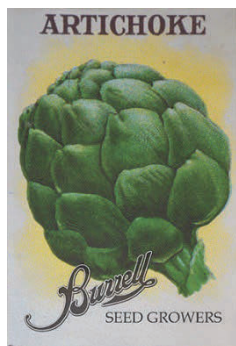

This year we are trying to implement better ordering and order tracking through our website, as well as QR codes on packages for you to look up the specific plants, planting tips and other useful information. Just as last year, there are some seeds in short supply, but we will provide all we can. Please check on the order sheet if we should backorder, replace with a similar variety, or refund your purchase price.

Continuing to carry our classic seeds, as well as new varieties for your gardens. Some of our varieties have been in since our very first catalog in 1902. Some of these include the Detroit Dark Red Beet, the Early Jersey Wakefield Cabbage and the Connecticut Field Pumpkin. Unfortunately, this year several varieties are being changed to seed-count due to changes from our suppliers, but we are still focused of providing good seed for a good price.

Please visit our website throughout the year to see new varieties that we are continuously adding to our long time favorites. We offer a variety of tools and books in addition to those offered in our catalog. We look forward to serving in this decade and beyond.

The Burrell Seeds Family

ARTICHOKE

10A -- Green Globe – Packet is approx. 90 seeds.

80 Days from transplant | Artichokes are a tender perennial in Zone 7. Artichokes can be started indoors and moved outside when all danger of frost has passed. Plant 4-5 seeds in a 4" or larger pot in January, thinning the weaker seedlings once the seeds are established. Heads (buds) are 3-4" in diameter, blunt cone shaped and deep green color. Plants grow 2'-3' tall, needing fertile soil and a long season.

Free Ship - Pkt. $2.60 | 1 Oz. $9.30 | 1/4 Lb. $25.10

Free Ship - 1/2 Lb. $38.30 | Plus Shipping - 1 Lb. $55.70 | 5 Lb. $50.20/Lb.

ASPARAGUS

Asparagus is a cool weather (zones 4-9) perennial crop that takes 2-3 years to establish. However, patience is rewarded by a crop that can last up to 20 years. Asparagus needs light sandy soil. Seed should be planted early in the spring, planted 2-4" apart, 1/2" deep in rows 15-24" apart. Since asparagus germinates slowly, many add radish seed to help identify rows for weeding.

100AG -- Mary Washington – Packet is approx. 200 seeds.

2 Years | A superior asparagus. This improved earlier, larger and more uniform strain of the classical Mary Washington asparagus grows long green stalks with tight heads.

Free Ship: Pkt. $2.60 | 1 Oz. $9.30 | 1/4 Lb. $25.10 | 1/2 Lb. $42.60

Plus Ship: 1 Lb. $64.10/Lb. | 5 Lb. $57.70/Lb. | 10 Lb. $56.10/Lb.

BUSH BEANS

Well-tended beans are a highly productive crop. Kept watered and picked regularly, one of our generous packets of green bean seeds will provide 20 plus pounds of beans over a season. Plant 1-2" deep, 1-3" apart, in rows 20" apart, when danger of frost is over. Control weeds with mulching or cultivation until blossoming season. Beans need the most water when blooming and setting fruit. If allowed to dry out, beans will be tough and stringy.

14B -- Bush Blue Lake 156 PVP – Packet is approx. 150 seeds.

58 Days | Performed well in our test garden. Firm but not stringy until overripe. Good yield with some drought tolerance, but sweeter when watered regularly. Good canned or frozen.

Plus Shipping - 1 Lb. $9.90 | 5 Lb. $9.00/Lb. | 25 Lb. $8.50/Lb.

BEETS

Beet seeds can be planted early in spring and throughout the season for a continuous supply. However, they are a cool weather crop. Beets tolerate light frost and light shade. Loose loamy soil or sandy soil is ideal. Plant 1/2" deep in rows 16-20" apart. Once sprouts appear, thin to 3". Our onion thinner makes that task quick and easy.

Beet roots should be covered with light mulch or soil as they push up through the ground. Keep evenly moist during growing season.

2C -- Chioggia Candy Cane – Packet contains approx. 130 seeds.

60 Days | Italian heirloom popular since the early 1800s. Also known as the candy cane or bulls-eye beet with striking deep pink and white spirals. The most beautiful of all beets.

BROCCOLI

Gardeners with a short growing season will want to start seedlings inside, and transplant with other warm weather crops like zucchini. In a warm climate, plant seeds directly approximately 2-3 weeks before the last frost date since this plant does best in the cool of spring.

132BC -- Green Sprouting Calabrese – 700 seeds in pkt.
 60 Days | Disease resistant and a hardy producer. 3-6" heads with bluish green domes. Holds well in the field for extended harvest. Great for the fresh market or freezing.
Free Ship - Pkt. $2.60 | 1 Oz. $5.40 | 1/4 Lb. $11.50
Free Ship - 1/2 Lb. $18.30 Plus Shipping - 1 Lb. $20.10
Plus Shipping - 5 Lb. $18.10/Lb. | 10 Lb. $17.60/Lb.

130BC -- Waltham 29 – Packet contains approx. 700 seeds.

80 Days | Compact, dark blue-green well-rounded medium-large heads with small buds. High yielder for freezing or market. With large heads and long stalks, this lovely and adaptable broccoli can be planted spring and fall.

Free Ship - Pkt. $2.60 | 1 Oz. $5.40 | 1/4 Lb. $11.50 | 1/2 Lb. $18.30

Plus Shipping - 1 Lb. $20.10 | 5 Lb. $18.10/Lb. | 10 Lb. $17.60/Lb.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS

Growing Brussels Sprouts is all about timing. It is a long season crop that reaches peak flavor after the first frost. Count back from your local frost date to decide when you should plant. Plant Brussels Sprout seeds directly in the garden in a warmer climate. Start transplants inside in a cooler climate. Get them in the ground when you set out your warm season crops. Plant seeds 1/2" deep and thin to 2' apart when the seedlings are 5-6" tall. Rows should be 3' to 4' apart. Mulch to retain even soil moisture and keep weeds down. As the little sprouts mature, harvest from the bottom of the stalk, removing the leaves as you go.

158D -- Catskill Original – Packet contains approx. 800 seeds.

100 Days | This classic brussels sprouts grows 1-2" heads on large strong stalks growing nearly 2' tall. First introduced in 1941, this is the original which later was bred to become the Long Island Improved. Heirloom variety that is great for freezing and fresh eating.

Free Ship - Pkt. $2.60 | 1 Oz. $5.40 | 1/4 Lb. $18.30 | 1/2 Lb. $18.30

Plus Shipping - 1 Lb. $20.00 | 5 Lb. $18.00/Lb. | 10 Lb. $17.50/Lb.

160D -- Long Island Improved – Packet contains approx. 800 seeds.

90 Days | Compact plants about 20" tall. Produces firm sprouts about 1 1/2" in diameter. Fine for freezing. This workhorse is still a common addition to gardens nationwide after decades in our gardens.

Free Ship - Pkt. $2.60 | 1 Oz. $5.40 | 1/4 Lb. $11.30 | 1/2 Lb. $18.00

Plus Shipping - 1 Lb. $18.90 | 5 Lb. $17.60/Lb. | 10 Lb. $17.10/Lb.

CABBAGE

Cabbage is one of the easiest crops to grow and does well in all parts of the U.S. A versatile vegetable with a long shelf life, cabbage can be used in soups, stews, salads, side dishes and more. It keeps well in a root cellar and is easy to can as sauerkraut. Stand the plants upright in a cool cellar with roots in the sand for the winter. Best if matured after the last frost date. Count back the days of maturity to time cabbage crops. Start seedlings inside 8 to 10 weeks before your last frost date. In warmer climates, plant cabbage seed directly in the garden 12 to 14 weeks before frost date.

179CB -- Chinese, Michihli – Packet contains approx. 3,500 seeds.

75 Days | Wonderful sautéed or sliced thin in salads. Heads 4" thick, 20" tall, tapering to a point. Chinese cabbage is tender, crisp and sweet with celery like stems. Free Ship - Pkt. $2.60 | 1 Oz. $4.90 | 1/4 Lb. $9.70 | 1/2 Lb. $15.20
Plus Shipping - 1 Lb. $14.60 | 5 Lb. $13.20/Lb. | 10 Lb. $12.80/Lb.

173CB -- Copenhagen Market – Packet contains approx. 900 seeds.

60 Days | Plants are compact with short stems and hard round heads weighing 3 to 4 Lb. Uniform in size and with good storage quality

CAULIFLOWER

These require more “know how”, preferring a long cool season. Pick a location that gets a minimum of 6 hours of sun. Light shade during the heat of the day is fine. Transplant seedlings 2-4 weeks before last spring frost date. In warm areas, time cauliflower transplanting like cabbage, 8 to 10 weeks before fall frost date. Planting seeds sow 10 to 12 weeks before fall frost. Space 2’ apart in rows 3’ to 4’ wide. Cauliflower requires consistent moisture. If allowed to dry out, it may start to bolt and yield loose heads.

201CF -- Early Snowball – Packet contains approx. 500 seeds.

55 Days | The plant produces good yields of 6 to 8" heads of white cauliflower wrapped in crumpled, wavy leaves. It is very flavorful, solid, crisp, and tender.

SWEET CORN

Corn requires fertile ground and should be planted in blocks rather than long rows for better pollination. Full sun and warm weather are a must. Plant seed 1-2" deep, 6" apart in rows 30-36" apart. Water well after planting and keep moist during germination. When plants are 3-4" tall, thin to 8-12" apart. Corn is designed to grow fast, so periodic fertilizing is recommended. Take care not to damage the roots while weeding. In dry conditions, keep the shallow roots well watered.

Sweet Corn Terminology:

Su = Sugary Se = Sugar enhanced (sweeter) Sh2-Supersweet (Sweetest)

Syn-Synergistic (Synergistic hybrid varieties must be isolated from Supersweet)

LETTUCE

Preferring cool weather, the earlier you start it, the better. For a “cut and come again” salad garden, simply sprinkle the seeds before the last heavy snows of early spring. They will know when to grow. For larger heads of lettuce, sow in garden 1/4-1/2” deep in rows 1-1 1/2” wide. Thin to 6-8” apart for leaf lettuces. For head lettuce, thin to 12-18” apart. Rich soil and plenty of water will produce the best tasting lettuce. Lettuce will tolerate light shade. Lettuce is cold tolerant, and are happy with early spring or fall planting.

MELONS -- CANTALOUPE

Cantaloupe-the crop that Rocky Ford is famous for. Grown under ideal conditions, our cantaloupe seeds are some of the best to be found. Hot days, cool nights and timed drip irrigation produces sweeter melons. Cantaloupe seeds may be planted directly in the ground when soil temperature reaches 65° and all danger of frost is past. Heavy feeders, cantaloupes prefer a sandy loam amended with composted manure. In cooler climates, start seedlings inside, transplanting when putting out the rest of your warm weather crops. Planting in hills, 3' apart in rows 5' or 6' apart is recommended. Seed should be planted at a 1" depth. Water at the base of the plant every 2 weeks until melon reaches softball size.

OPEN POLLINATED CANTALOUPE

MELONS -- WATERMELON

Watermelons need a long warm season to mature, 80-90 days at least. They thrive in loamy well drained, fertile soil. When soil temperatures reach 60°, sow our watermelon seeds, 1" deep, in hills 2' apart with 4' to 6' between rows. Plant 2 or 3 seeds to each hill and thin to one plant once the first set of true leaves develop. Once established, watermelons require 1" of water per week, although some farms reduce water to develop sugar closer to harvest.

Please remember to include watermelon fruit blotch waiver (second sheet of order form) when ordering more than 1 pound total of watermelon seed.

1L -- All Sweet – Packet contains approx. 100 seeds.

OKRA

Locate okra in loamy, fertile soil with full sun. Plant okra seeds when all danger of frost has passed and soil temp is 65° to 70°. Seeds should be planted 1/2-1" deep, 12-18" apart in very wide rows, 3' to 5' apart. Okra plants grow very large. Keep young plants well weeded, then mulch heavily to hold moisture and keep weeds down. Water well during hot, dry periods. Drought will make the pods tougher. Pick small pods about 2 months after planting with a downward tug. Continue nurturing, monthly fertilizing and deep watering for a prolonged harvest. Wear gloves and long sleeves when picking okra to avoid skin irritation.

ONIONS

Most people think growing onions from sets is the way to go, but the opposite is preferable. When starting with sets, more green than bulb is produced. Onion seeds perform better, especially if you choose the right variety for your area. There are three types of bulb onions: short day, intermediate day and long day. This refers to the length of daylight in your latitude. Northern areas are long day, southern areas like Texas are short day and Colorado would be intermediate. Short day onions require a long growing season. We grow nice long day onions here in Rocky Ford, Colorado because of the warm climate and extended growing season.

Onion seeds can be direct seeded in warm climates or started indoors in cool climates. Start onion seedlings inside 8 to 10 weeks before transplanting outside in cool climates (Zones 6 or lower). Sow seeds in pre-moistened potting soil 1/8" deep. Press down lightly and keep evenly moist. Onion seeds take a while, so be patient. Trim seedlings to 3" as they grow to keep them from getting top heavy and strengthen stems. Transplant 3 to 4 weeks before your last spring frost date. Space 3-4" apart when small. Green onion seeds should be planted or thinned to 1" apart.

COWPEAS OR SOUTHERN PEAS

It's a Southern thing! Simmered with ham, onions and garlic, fresh cowpeas are a classic dish. Add some snaps (immature cowpea pods) and you have a hearty meal! Folks drive a long way to buy bushels of Creameyes, Blackeyes and Pinkeyes from our market. More like a bean than a pea, cowpeas can be dried to store. True connoisseurs prefer to freeze them. Heirloom cowpea seeds should be planted when soil temperatures reach 60° to 65°. Direct seed 1-2" deep, 4-8" apart, in rows 2' wide. Cow peas can tolerate some light shade so they are often planted with okra. Water them thoroughly to start, then occasionally as the weather requires. They will tolerate light drought, but produce better with some moisture.

PEPPERS

A warm weather crop, that can be coaxed into a crop in cool weather areas with special care, but prefer hot, dry climates with irrigation. Peppers can be started inside, but many have better results when they direct seed. This produces bigger and better quality peppers. Plant pepper seeds, 1/2" deep in flats or pots, 8 to 10 weeks before the last frost. It is important to keep a moist seedbed until seedlings are well established. Transplant outside when all danger of frost is past and soil temperatures reach 60°. Seedlings should be spaced 12-18" apart in rows 2' to 3' wide. When plants are 12" tall, while cultivating, pull dirt around the base of the plant. This covers small weeds and adds support to young plants.

PUMPKIN

Pumpkins are a warm season vegetable and should be planted only after the danger of frost has passed. In cool climates with short seasons, start indoors 4 weeks before the last spring frost date. Pick a sunny location with lots of room, good drainage and very rich soil. Pumpkins do best when direct seeded. Plant 6 to 8 seeds per hill, spaced 5' to 8' apart. Cultivate to keep free of weeds. Water every two weeks until blossoms form, then reduce watering. Avoid over-watering when pumpkins reach 50% of their size at maturity.

8R -- Atlantic Giant – Packet contains approx. 20 seeds.

RADISHES

Their benefits in the garden are numerous. Cucumber beetles are repelled by radishes. Radishes are an excellent trap crop, diverting the attention of flea beetles from your other crops. People will use them to mark a row where slow germinators are grown. If the soil is silty, a crust will form when drying after a heavy rain. Radishes can be planted along with other seeds to break that crust. Icicle radishes are planted as a fall cover crop to suppress weeds, break up the soil and add organic material to the soil (after the winter freeze) Sow radish seeds 1/2" deep 1" apart 4 to 6 weeks before the last spring frost. Thin to 2" apart when seedlings sprout. They do not grow well when crowded. Plant in a sunny location as radishes need full sun to produce a bulb Keep evenly moist. Plant radish seeds successively throughout the cool spring season and late summer into fall.

13S -- Cherry Belle – Packet contains approx. 800 seeds.

22 Days | Resembles cherries in shape and color. Flesh white, crisp and retains good eating qualities longer than most radishes. Highly desirable for market, home use and greenhouse. Tops are short.

RUTABAGA

Rutabaga are a cool season crop that sweeten after a couple frosts. They can be planted in early spring when soil temperatures reach 40° but are best if grown as a fall crop in warm areas. Sow rutabaga seeds 1/8-1/2" deep, 4" apart in rows spaced 12-18". Rutabagas need rich well worked soil and a steady supply of water. Harvest when tennis ball sized, smaller ones are more tender with a better flavor.

658RP -- American Purple Top – Packet contains approx. 3,000 seeds.

90 Days | A good dependable variety used for storage and shipping. Large, globe shaped with small neck and tap root. Skin yellow with purple top. Flesh light yellow, firm, tender and crisp.

SPINACH

A cool weather crop, direct seed spinach before the last heavy snows of spring. The melting snow will give it the moisture to germinate. Sprinkle on top of a loamy soil and the snow will push it in. In a high altitude garden, spinach seed can be planted from early spring until late fall, using it as a ground cover between larger plants. In warm climates, direct seed early and late in the season. Works well in a "cut-and-come-again" salad garden, seeds can be planted 1/2-1" deep, 6" apart in a row.

580M -- Bloomsdale Long Standing – Packet contains approx. 500 seeds.

45 Days | Outstanding strain of savoy leaved spinach. Handsome plant with uniform, blistered and crumpled leaves. Excellent freezing variety. Lives up to its name as it is slower to bolt than most spinaches.
